Art Unit: 1771

1. All of the art rejections are maintained.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 5, 6, 14, 33 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Brodeur, Jr. (US 6,187,865) substantially as set forth in the 07/29/2004 Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brodeur, Jr. (US 6,187,865) as applied to claim 14 above, and further in view of the prior art as admitted by Applicant at page 5, lines 11-16 of Applicant's specification (herein after referred to as the admitted prior art) substantially as set forth in the 07/29/2004 Office Action.

6. Claims 8 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brodeur, Jr. (US 6,187,865) as applied to claim 14 above, further in view of Conrad et al (US 6,245,697) substantially as set forth in the 07/29/2004 Office Action.

Response to Arguments

7. All of the art rejections have been maintained for the following reasons.

Applicants argue that the product of Brodeur comprises a foam pad with sufficient adhesive tack to cling to a vertical plane. Brodeur uses rosin ester tackifiers into his foam pad. On the other hand, the presently claimed sheet is also non-adhesive. The arguments are not found persuasive for patentability. Applicant's attention is directed to example VI disclosed in the Brodeur reference where the rosin ester tackifiers are not required in the foam formulation. The product of Brodeur is non-adhesive and can stay in place to a smooth horizontal planes (column 6, lines 10-20). Additionally, it is noted that nothing in the specification defines "non-adhesive" as the foam layer itself being non-adhesive. Therefore, "non-adhesive" is intended to be no adhesive layer required to adhere the sheet material to the surface on which the sheet is placed. The product of Brodeur thus broadly reads on the presently claimed subject matter. Applicant argues that the Conrad reference does not supply the deficiencies of the Brodeur reference. Conrad teaches a flexible mat comprising a waterproof layer on the underside of a water absorbent foam layer. It is the waterproof layer of Conrad rather than the foam layer, which is non-skid. The arguments again are not persuasive for patentability. Conrad does not need to teach the non-skid foam layer because such an issues are already taught in the Brodeur reference. What Conrad needs to teach is polypropylene and polyethylene are recognized equivalent olefin polymers for the liquid impervious materials used in the flexible mats. Accordingly, the art rejections are sustained.

Conclusion

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
